SCHOOLS FINANCIAL CREDIT UNION NAMED NATIONAL TOP PERFORMER

Sacramento, CA – In February, Schools Financial Credit Union was recognized for providing the best value to members at the 2017 Government Affairs Conference hosted by the Credit Union National Association (CUNA) in Washington, D.C.

Schools Financial received the national 2017 Member Benefits Top Performance Award for saving its members an average of $521 per household, compared to what they would spend doing business at a stockholder-owned, for-profit bank in California.

CUNA estimated that Schools Financial “is among the nation’s best in providing direct financial benefits to members.” According to CUNA’s CEO Jim Nussle, “These benefits arise from your credit union’s low loan interest rates, higher-than-average deposit yields and fewer/lower fees compared to banking institutions.”

“We are especially honored to receive this award, which highlights the power of member-ownership at credit unions and quantifies the value we provide our members,” said Schools Financial President/CEO Tim Marriott. “Our Board of Directors, Supervisory Committee, management and staff remain dedicated to our mission of providing members with better value and outstanding service.”
